

Nowhere But Here

“One of the gifted new voices of contemporary Latino literature. Richard Blanco’s poems speak of the homeland through the eyes of the displaced in the U.S. They explore landscape and the many faces of his identity as a cubano-americano, struggling to create and recreate himself, and transcend. . .”

—Naomi Ayala

HILL-STEAD MUSEUM / FARMINGTON, CT, USA

www.hillstead.org

poems by Richard Blanco

